

China Premier Urges Romania Rebuff Soviet

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Red China's premier, encouraging Romanian Communists on the Soviet Union's doorstep to resist Soviet domination, holds more talks today with the independent-minded Romanians.

Radio Peking, monitored in Tokyo, said Chou En-lai assured the Romanians Friday that their wish not to be tied down to Moscow "will always have the firm support of the Chinese people."

On his arrival Thursday Chou praised Romania's refusal to take sides in the Soviet-Chinese ideological dispute.

The Romanians have carefully steered a neutral course in the dispute. They have also demanded that East European Communist states have a greater voice in decisions of the Soviet-dominated Warsaw Pact military alliance.

The Chinese premier met with Romanian leaders Friday for five hours at Communist party headquarters and for three more hours of informal discussion during lunch. Seated at the table with Chou was his deputy foreign minister, Chao Kuanhua, an expert on Soviet and East European affairs.

A communique described the atmosphere as "cordial and comradely."

Chou goes into conference today with Romanian Communist party chief Nicolae Ceausescu to discuss "international questions of mutual interest."

The Chinese premier is scheduled to sandwich in a tour of southern Romanian provinces Sunday and Monday, then return to the capital Tuesday night for more talks. He leaves Friday, presumably to visit Communist Albania, China's only European ally.

Romanian and Chinese officials are tight-lipped about the agenda for their talks, but informed sources said they believe the No. 1 topic is the Peking-Moscow struggle for world Communist leadership.

Saigon Acts To Cure Viet Nam's Economy

Capital Riots In Sixth Day; Viet Cong Hit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Troops and riot police, reportedly with orders to shoot, today sealed off Saigon's Buddhist Institute after a man in an antigovernment mob shot a policeman to death.

A second policeman was attacked by the mob of about 150 persons and reported dragged bleeding into the institute's compound. A later report said he had not been dragged in, or that he may have been released.

The police were said to have been given orders to shoot at the legs of persons trying to flee from the compound, where the man who shot the policeman was said to have fled.

In the war against the Viet Cong, American B52 bombers rounded out one year of raids against Communist targets in Viet Nam and marked the anniversary with two big attacks against the Communist guerrillas.

Ground fighting dwindled to only minor allied contact with the Viet Cong.

One wave of the Guam-based B52s hit a Viet Cong troop concentration 35 miles southwest of Da Nang.

Another formation of the eight-engine bombers hammered two Viet Cong base camps 75 miles northwest of Saigon. The target area was in War Zone C near the Cambodian border, long a Communist troop stronghold.

Girl Suicide

Police officials reported that a 16-year-old Buddhist girl, who set herself afire in an antigovernment protest Friday night, died today.

The girl, Dao Thi Tuyet, set her clothing ablaze in the compound of the Buddhist Institute. Her death brought to 10 the number of self-immolations since May 29.

The policeman was shot to death with his own revolver and a police captain said the man who did it was seen running into the institute. Police were demanding that monks hand him over.

The captain, Phan Huu Tran, said police knew the slayer.

Plainclothesmen seized four persons, one of them wearing monk's robes, and took them away in a truck. One resisted and policemen were seen beating him with rifle butts.

Police said the slain policeman was on his way to work when he was attacked. He lived in the area.

Although the institute, about two miles from downtown Saigon, has been the center of agitation against the government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, no monks in robes were seen in the crowd that attacked the policeman.

The institute's gates were closed and about 200 persons milled about inside.

Burn Jeep

Earlier, the crowd which had burned the street all day, burned an American jeep.

As the antigovernment rioting went into its sixth straight day, the regime announced that the curfew in the capital will be shortened by three hours today and Sunday to permit observances of Armed Forces Day.

A big parade of all branches of the South Vietnamese and allied forces is scheduled for Sunday. Air force units also will fly over the city.

The holiday will also mark the first anniversary of the military government of Premier Ky.

Take Pagoda

In Hue, the center of antigovernment agitation in the north, Premier Ky's troops took control of the Dieu De Buddhist pagoda.

Simultaneously, another battalion of 500 loyal Vietnamese marines arrived to bolster the government forces to 2,800 in the city of 106,000 people.

The Dieu De pagoda has been the rallying point of a series of antigovernment, anti-American demonstrations by Buddhists.

Every Day Father's Day In Wilson Home While He Fights War

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) — A framed photo of a marine in Viet Nam will be the center of Father's Day attention at the Frederick Wayne Wilson home Sunday — but there's nothing unusual about that.

Every day is Father's Day with the Wilson family; wife Gloria, 21, 2-year-old Tammy and 10-month-old Fred Jr.

The photo symbolizes one family's solution to a problem faced by many young couples: how to keep the memory of daddy strong for the children while he's fighting a war?

The glass covering the photo of Sgt. Wilson, a reconnaissance patrol leader in Chu Lai, is cracked from what his wife calls "too much loving." She has no intention of replacing it.

No Stranger

"When Fred left," Mrs. Wilson said in an interview with Sheila Grattan of the Alhambra Post-Advocate, "we made plans to keep the presence of father as strong as possible in our home. We feel children need to be aware of their father... not forget his importance."

They had seen newsreels of soldier homecomings where the father was a stranger to the children. And they knew military wives who found it easier to ignore the existence of the father during long separations.

Little Tammy kisses the picture of her daddy morning and night. Another visual symbol is a Marine doll in full-dress blues. "That's my daddy," Tammy shouts as she points it out to visitors.

Home Movies

Tammy also helps wrap cookies and candies, which are sent to her father regularly.

Another reminder is home movies, made just before the sergeant left, and shown often. And there are letters. Wilson writes an average of five a week.

"I sit Tammy down and read to her all the parts she can understand," Mrs. Wilson says. She reads and rereads his letters and she writes him nightly discussing Tammy and little Fred's development, discipline problems, "the cute things the children do."

Money Value Cut In Half; Pay Is Raised

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The government announced today sweeping economic measures, including a 50 per cent devaluation of the Vietnamese piaster and salary increases to 800,000 state employees.

The drastic measures, described as "major surgery for a serious disease," were aimed at halting the skyrocketing inflation threatening the economic life of this embattled nation.

They are expected to have strong influences on the country's unstable market and the government braced for a difficult period that may range from two to three months.

The United States has underwritten the program with the pledge of $160 million to help the regime cope with the situation.

Cities Hit Hard

Hardest hit by the new measures will be the urban population, already reeling under the burden of the cost of living which rose 55 per cent in the past year.

The official rate of the Vietnamese piaster to the dollar, hitherto 60 to 1, was set at 118 to 1 for all exchanges, replacing a complicated three-standard system.

In effect, the new rate consists of 80 to 1 exchange plus a 38 piaster tax, for a total of 118 piasters.

Prices To Mount

In practice, this will mean that importers will have to pay about twice as much for their goods, and prices of all imported products will mount.

To alleviate, at least partially, the new blow to Vietnamese purses, the government promised salary increases ranging from 20 to 30 per cent to all its employees, including the armed forces and auxiliary units.

The plan is estimated to cost the government from 8 to 10 billion piasters or 20 per cent of the present national budget.

Success In Laos

The plan was almost entirely worked out by the International Monetary Fund and was based on the successful devaluation in neighboring Laos in 1963.

In addition to the $160 million promised by the United States to underwrite the stability for the next three months, the Vietnamese government also earmarked $80 million.

Union Elections In Cuba Monday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba will hold elections June 20 to elect new union leaders throughout the country, Havana radio reported Friday night.

The newscast, heard in Miami, said the elections will take place in an atmosphere of "absolute freedom and democracy" — with one exception.

Rules of the election forbid voters to elect those who have been members of the bourgeois political parties or labor unions before the days of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, the broadcast said.

Soviet Approval Of New Cabinet Relieves Finland

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Finland bade farewell today to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, openly relieved that he has endorsed this neutral nation's new Cabinet.

Kosygin, here on a five-day visit, publicly approved the Cabinet of Premier Rafael Paasio whose Social Democratic party has been frowned upon by Moscow for more than a decade.

Paasio's party objected in the early 1950's to over-emphasizing friendship between Finland and the Soviet Union. As a result Moscow made clear it would not do business with any Social Democrats and the party was barred from the government until this year.

After the Social Democrats won more seats in Parliament than any other party in the elections last March, Paasio managed to get enough support to form a government.

The new government includes Communists for the first time since 1948 when the Reds were accused of using Cabinet posts to place party members on the police force.

Speaking at a banquet Friday night, Kosygin put the seal of approval on Paasio's government by announcing that the premier had accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union.

Finland depends on the neighboring Soviet Union's goodwill to maintain its neutrality and to keep afloat economically.

Tornadoes Hit Texas Plains

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes blasted through the Texas Panhandle and Plains country Friday night, churning up hailstorms, flash floods and 94-mile-per-hour winds.

The second straight night of violent weather left Amarillo awash in flash floods. One section of town reported 13 inches of rain following two violent thunderstorms within 1½ hours. The official count was 1.22 inches in six evening hours and 2.75 inches since noon Friday.

A tornado skimmed Reese Air Force Base just northwest of Lubbock, but no damage was reported. Other twisters were spotted near Olton, Levelland and Spade.

Thunderstorms pounded the nation from Texas to Wyoming. Colorado Springs reported about 1.5 inches of rain in 12 hours Friday.

To Hear Polley

LELAND (AP) — An estimated 400 vocational education administrators are expected to attend a four-day conference beginning Monday at Leland and sponsored by the State Department of Education. Featured speakers will include Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Polley is expected to address the group on "The Role of the Vocational Education Administrator in the Future."

The conference is being held at the Leland Hotel, a new $1.5 million structure which opened last month.

Sen. Proxmire Calls Capitol Job An Insult

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says the plan to put a new face on the 140-year-old west wall of the nation's Capitol is a "34-million extravagance" and "an insult to the intelligence of Congress."

House Speaker John W. McCormack and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, members of the five-member Commission for the Extension of the Capitol, announced approval of the face-lifting project Friday. It would be the historic building's most extensive renovation in 100 years.

Timber Braced

McCormack and Dirksen estimated the cost at $34 million. They said the old front was so cracked and weakened that a minor explosion or even a sonic boom could cause it to crumble. Since last fall timbers have braced areas where huge cracks are visible.

The plans, which must get approval of the House and Senate and their appropriations committees, call for completely removing the sandstone face of the central part of the west front — which looks on downtown Washington — and replacing it with marble on a new line extending 44 to 88 feet farther out.

Take Four Years

The additional space is earmarked for offices, restaurants and an underground service area. Construction would begin in about 18 months and take four years to complete.

Proxmire challenged the view that additional space is needed. He was among members of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee who questioned Capitol Architect J. George Stewart about the plan shortly after it was approved.

Effectiveness in Foreign Affairs

"The American people have a right to expect that their own government will not deceive them on facts they have a right to know."

After the Prepared Speeches

The editors fired questions at the candidates. The questions were about Viet Nam and these were the answers:

Obligation To Stay

Cavanagh—"We have an obligation to stay but we also have an obligation to employ our political resources to help the South Vietnamese people gain Democratic government.... If we continue along the present course, a negotiated settlement will be impossible...."

Griffin—"I have serious misgivings and reservations about some policies and decisions which have gotten us into this situation.... This conflict will never be brought to a satisfactory conclusion by bombs and glory takeovers of Viet Cong territory by force. It is the political side we must stress with more and better foreign aid."

Williams—"If we are going to have peace, we must have a military defense against aggression from the north until they (the enemy) are contained. We must help South Viet Nam economically...."

Dan Ryan, editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette, was elected president of the MAPEA Friday, succeeding Grant Howell, managing editor of the Daily Tribune, Royal Oak.

Frank Angelo, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, was elected vice president, and Clem Brossier, AP chief of bureau in Detroit, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Senate Hopefuls Slap Each Other In AP Meet Talk

GAYLORD (AP) — Michigan's three leading U.S. Senate candidates sniped at each other Friday in their first face-to-face encounter, while their audience of newspaper executives sat back and listened.

Democrat Jerome Cavanagh attacked Democrat G. Mennen Williams. Williams attacked Republican Robert Griffin and Griffin attacked Democratic President Johnson.

And each told the Michigan Associated Press Editorial Association he expected to be the state's new senator next year.

Mayor Cavanagh of Detroit said he was optimistic about his primary race with former Gov. Williams and offered to debate incumbent Sen. Griffin after he, Cavanagh, wins the Democratic nod.

Williams generally ignored Cavanagh, praising the economic policies of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and criticizing Griffin, "the new interim junior senator from Michigan."

Griffin was appointed senator this year by Gov. George Romney to replace Democrat Patrick McNamara, who died.

Opposed Meddling Asked about this, Griffin said he favored tax cuts and other government initiatives in times of recession, but opposed meddling with the economy in times of prosperity.

Griffin devoted most of his 10-minute talk to criticism of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. He said,

"In the past four or five years the manipulation and suppression of truth has become the rule rather than the exception. It has reduced American ef-

Dr. King Urges Negroes Be At Jackson Rally

ITTA BENA, Miss. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., shaking hands with people who contributed $1 bills to aid the Mississippi march, urged them to be in Jackson when the march ends there a week from today.

"If you can't join us on the march now, join us when we get to Jackson," he told a rally Friday night in Greenwood.

King promised there would be entertainment at the end of the march, including, he said, Frank Sinatra, Marlon Brando, Burt Lancaster, Sammy Davis Jr., Gregory Peck and rock 'n' roll singer James Brown.

"If you know these people you had better come and see them Saturday night," King said.

Several of the younger people chanted, "I'm going to catch a bus down there."

Earlier, the rally heard Hosea Williams, director of voter registration and political education for King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, urge them to "get that vote."

"If we can die in Viet Nam, we can die in Mississippi," Williams said. "I'm sorry I don't have but one life to give for this damnable place, Mississippi."

Said King: "You all know as well as I do an individual takes his life in his own hands when he asserts his rights in Mississippi."

Probe Tanker Crash Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A Coast Guard board of inquiry will convene Monday to study the still mysterious cause of Thursday's flaming collision between two tankers in New York harbor.

The known death toll remained at 20 today, after a search of the burned hulk of the British tanker Alva Cape yielded no bodies. Twelve crewmen are listed as missing.

Of the 71 survivors aboard the two tankers and two escorting tugs which also caught fire, all but 21 had been released from hospitals by Friday night. One remained in critical condition.

Adventists Pick Robert Pierson To Head Church

DETROIT (AP) — A soft-spoken, reflective man who sees an expanding role for the church in the modern world is the new leader of the 1.6-million-member Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Robert H. Pierson, 55, previously head of Adventist missions in Africa, was elected world president of the church Friday by delegates to the 50th World Conference of Adventists.

"I was surprised. Naturally, I was surprised," Pierson said after his election. "When a responsibility like this is thrust upon a one of a kind, it makes one feel a great dependence upon the Lord."

Pierson succeeds Reuben R. Figuhr, world president for 12 years whose main principles — "evangelization, publishing and medical and educational programs around the world" — Pierson says he plans to follow.

Pierson, now a resident of Salisbury, Rhodesia, was born in Brooklyn, Iowa, the son of a now-deceased Adventist parent. His father was president of a bank.

He went to high school near Ocala, Fla., where he met and married a Kansas-born girl named Dollis. She wasn't born an Adventist, said Pierson, "but she's one now."

After their marriage, they entered Southern Missionary College in Tennessee. Last May, Pierson received a doctoral degree from "our university" — Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich.

Pierson, author of 13 religious books and numerous articles in Adventist publications, has two sons, John Duane, 34, is a doctor currently doing research for a Morristown, N.J., pharmaceutical firm. Robert, 29, works at Solusi College, an Adventist school in Rhodesia.

That Unlucky Day:

Purple Heart, Bronze Star Go To Sp5 Lemoine

"You never know when you're going to run into action," said SP5 James L. Lemoine of Escanaba when he was home from Viet Nam in February this year.

He has indeed "run into action" and as a result has been awarded the Bronze Star with a V for valor, and the Purple Heart. His wounds included a piece of shrapnel in the jaw.

He has had 12 years in the Army, enlisting in Escanaba in 1953; his first overseas tour was 16 months in Korea; and after special training in photography he was sent to Okinawa and spent four months there as photo instructor. In October, 1965, he was sent to Viet Nam "where we were under fire from the time of arrival."

SP5 Lemoine is married and his wife and their four daughters reside at 105 N. 19th St., Escanaba.

Friday The 13th

"Since my return to Viet Nam I have participated in two large operations, the last one being operation Birmingham — which almost took my life," he reports.

"I have never been a superstitious person, so when a Recon sergeant for the First Infantry asked me if I would like to go on a bridge reconnaissance on Friday the 13th, I said sure, why not? It's just another day."

LeMoine's job is that of public information specialist and photographer — an assignment he has held since he arrived in Viet Nam with the First Engineer Battalion.

"It was to be a two-fold mission: To take recon photos and

"At 7 in the morning the three-man recon team and I boarded two armored personnel carriers. The two recon NCO's rode the lead APC, with a recon specialist and myself following. We would recon roads and bridges in the Michelin Plantation to our northeast. The Michelin Plantation area had long been a VC stronghold where they have hospitals and training areas."

Ripped By Mine

"Most of the day was spent checking bridges, many of which had been destroyed by VC and roads that they had placed obstacles on. At 10 a.m. we had finished our mission and started on our return trip to Base Camp."

"At 6:20 p.m. we hit a hard-top road, where I thought there would be little chance of the VC to plant an anti-vehicular type mine."

"After riding on top of the APC all day my body was bruised and sore from being bounced around."

"Standing in the hatchway of the APC was a great relief — and also proved a short while later to have been a lifesaver.

"At 6:30 p.m. a loud explosion ripped across the hull of the APC, causing it to swerve to the right and into a ditch where it came to rest against a culvert."

"Dazed, I picked myself up from the floor and found I had only minor cuts from shrapnel ricocheting inside the APC. I looked out of the hatch. There was a man laying on the deck with his arm half off."

Returns Fire

"The VC had opened on us with automatic weapons fire so my first thought was to get the wounded man down in the APC for protection."

"Remembering what the Army had taught me on first aid, I immediately removed my belt and used it as a tourniquet to stop the bleeding and applied a compress to cover the wound."

"Having done all I could for my wounded comrade, I grabbed my M-14 and took up a position in the ditch so as to add to fire power of the APC that was not hit."

"After about 20 minutes, the firing ceased and the wounded were evacuated. It was only then I found out that I was the only one on the APC who didn't require evacuation."

"I know I was lucky this time, but come another Friday the 13th, I hope to be home with my wife and family where things will be much less hectic and very much safer!"

NMU To Train VISTA Groups

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University will conduct two six-week training programs this summer for 100 VISTA trainees.

VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) is a corps of full-time volunteers who live and work with the disadvantaged in connection with the War on Poverty. It is the second straight year NMU has conducted training programs for the volunteers.

Forty VISTA trainees will begin their training session Monday, June 20, with more than 60 volunteers scheduled to begin their training July 31.

Insured Urged Not To Cancel For Medicare

"People who have signed up for medicare should not cancel any other health insurance they have, at least not until medicare begins," Arnold T. Williams, Social Security district manager in Escanaba, said today.

If a person cancels his other health insurance now, he will have no protection for his hospital and doctor bills until medicare starts. July 1 is the first month that anyone can be protected under the medicare program, Williams said.

Many insurance companies are making changes in their health insurance policies and have or soon will be offering new policies to people over 65 because of medicare. In some cases the new policies will be lower in cost. Williams recommended that senior citizens check with their insurance agents about the insurance policies they now own.

City Beach To Open Monday

The golden days of summer are near and with them comes the opening of swimming beaches.

At the Escanaba Municipal Beach in Ludington Park the swimming classes for boys and girls 7 years of age and older will begin with registration on Monday, June 20, and continue to July 3. Classes will start at 10 a. m. July 5.

The program is sponsored by the Escanaba Recreation Department. City boys and girls will swim on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; and children from the townships on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Francis Lueneburg will be in charge of the beach activities and will instruct boys in the beginners class. Linda Wylie will conduct the classes for the girls. Tom Meinz will serve as a life guard and assist in the instructional program wherever needed.

Courses in the Swimmers, Intermediate and Advanced classes will be conducted under the direction of Martha Johnson, Junior and Senior Life Saving classes will be offered again this year with Tom Meinz in charge.

These courses are open to all boys and girls 12 years of age and over.

The City Recreation Department asks all youthful non-swimmers to take advantage of the free program of instruction. Regular participation in the classes will make it possible for the youngsters to learn to swim properly and to save someone's life in the event of an emergency in the water.

Marcantonio, deputy grand knight; Walter Johnson, chancellor; James Anderson, warden; Roger Jenschak, recording secretary; Arthur Messier Sr., advocate; Louis Carr, treasurer; John Dishno and Ernest Bernier, guards; Donald J. Crawford, trustee; John Baribeau, financial secretary. They will take office July 1.

New Diabetes Cases Found By Screening

Diabetes Screening program that was conducted last fall in Delta and Menominee Counties revealed that out of 2803 bloods that were satisfactory for testing there were 57 abnormal bloods or about two out of every 100. Upon further testing there were found 26 new cases of diabetes.

There were six that had abnormal bloods in the past and were considered known diabetics. Also, there were six that had blood sugars that were below normal. Twenty of those that were rechecked were given a clear bill of health as regards the presence of diabetes, Mary Creten, director of Delta-Menominee Health Department, announced.

This testing program was sponsored by state and local health agencies in cooperation with the local physicians.

Legal Institute Here Friday

Judicare Gets Spotlight

The annual meeting of Michigan's Upper Peninsula Legal institute will be held Friday and Saturday, June 24-25, for commissioners of the State Bar of Michigan and local bar association representatives at the House of Ludington with the Delta County Bar Association as host.

Two major legal topics will be "Products Liability" and "Legal Services Program" for the Upper Peninsula. Dean A. Robb, a Detroit attorney, will speak on products liability from the plaintiff's point of view, while Robert E. Ward, also a Detroit attorney, will discuss the issue from the defendant's viewpoint.

Discussion of the OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) legal service program for the Upper Peninsula will be led by John W. Cumiskey, chairman of the American Bar Association Committee on Legal Aid and indigent defendants.

One of the original drafters of Michigan's rural indigent OEO legal services program, Cumiskey, a former State Bar president from Grand Rapids, is considered one of the nation's foremost authorities on OEO's newest aid program—free legal services to the indigent. Sargent Shriver, director of the national Office of Economic Opportunity, has given the legal aid program the highest priority classification of all OEO programs at this time, according to Cumiskey.

The subject of legal aid to indigents is of great current interest in the Upper Peninsula. The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress has been given a grant to institute legal aid services through its six Upper Peninsula Community Action Agencies by the appointment of an attorney in each.

UPCAP Project UPJCAP has the project under joint study with the Bar of the Upper Peninsula with an aim of developing a cooperative arrangement.

"Judicare", as this free legal service to the poor has been called in the War on Poverty efforts which created it, has been undertaken by the Wisconsin State Bar in an experimental project which will provide free legal services to underprivileged persons in 26 northern Wisconsin counties starting Aug. 1.

Att'y. Donald C. O'Melia, Rhinelander, president of the Wisconsin State Bar, said it was a tribute to the Wisconsin legal profession that the federal Office of Economic Opportunity had chosen the state to explore extended legal aid for the poor as a part of the War on Poverty.

$195,000 For U.P. The federal government has appropriated $26 million for 1966, including a $139,000 budget for Milwaukee's poor for six months ending Oct. 1. The UPCAP grant for U.P. judicare is $195,000.

E. Clinton Bamberger, Jr., director of the legal services program of the Office of Economic Opportunity, urged the National Conference of Bar Presidents to support extended legal aid services. "We can visit countless courtrooms in which civil trials are held and observe temperate and intelligent judges listening to competent counsel defend the interests of affluent clients. But what would we see if we visited a small claims court, with jurisdiction limited to several hundred dollars that serves primarily as a collection agency for retail merchants and installment creditor vendors?

"Or a domestic relations court where a stream of women on public assistance rolls come to swear out contempt citations against the husbands or boy friends who left them penniless, and pregnant? Or a landlord and tenant court inundated by petitions for evictions of impoverished tenants of marginal housing?"

Bamberger said in courtrooms throughout the country evictions issue unchallenged, writs of repossession are signed in bundles and default judgments are the course of the day. "The poor are not represented."

Luncheon On Cutter Also included in the Escanaba program will be a talk on protecting a client's right to payment out of the motor vehicle accident claim fund. This will be presented by Hugh B. Anderson, assistant attorney general and counsel to the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Vincent McAuliffe, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board, will talk on "What's New in Workmen's Compensation."

Friday evening's banquet speaker will be Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Press. Official welcome will be extended in behalf of the Delta County Bar Association by its president, Atty. Louis J. Gregory, while the response from the State Bar will be presented by John S. Clark, president.

A Friday evening reception for legal members and their wives will be sponsored by Lawyers Title Insurance Corp. The program will end Saturday noon with a luncheon served aboard the icebreaker Mesquite.

A. J. Derouin Dies Friday

Albert J. Derouin, 69, Rte. 1, Gladstone, died Friday at 3 p.m. at the Bishop Noa Home. He had been seriously ill for one year.

He was born April 30, 1897 in Hyde, and lived in Escanaba and Delta County all his life. He was a veteran of World War I and was employed with the Mead Corporation for 40 years. He retired in 1960.

He is survived by his widow, the former Amy Lund; two sons, Elwood, Escanaba, and Francis, Rte. 1, Gladstone; two daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Lois) Beauchamp, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Kermit (Leticia) Cresson, Highland, Ind.; one sister, Mrs. Gene (Ann) Robert, Detroit; five brothers, Emil, Phillip and Rene, Escanaba, Mose, Detroit and Raymond, Jacksonville, Florida; 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Alto Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Parish prayers will be Sunday at 8 o'clock and funeral services will be at St. Thomas Church, Monday at 10 a.m. with Rev. Arnold Thompson officiating. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Military organizations will meet at the funeral home, Monday at 9:30 to conduct military services.

Dies In Pool

OWOSSO (AP) — Six-year-old Jeff Numerick of rural Owosso drowned Friday in a swimming pool at Owosso High School. Some 160 youngsters were at the pool, which is open during summer vacation under the city's recreation program. There were four lifeguards.

TV Translator Delayed

Summer Start Hoped For

Upper Peninsula TV Systems has been delayed by opposition of Delta TV Signal Distribution Co. before the Federal Communications Commission in creating a TV translator station to serve the Escanaba-Gladstone area, says Richard E. Abraham, president of the Iron Mountain firm.

Delta TV Signal serves this area with cable TV.

"Its petition to FCC expressed concern that we would interfere with Channel 7 and 9 from Lower Michigan, which they indicated was regularly received by people in the Escanaba and Gladstone vicinity," said Abraham. "To prevent further delays, we asked the FCC to change from Channels 7 and 9 to eliminate any possibility of interference and to allow us to broadcast on Channels 3 and 8."

"We now believe that with our vacating Channels 7 and 9 we should now be permitted to provide with construction, so we may sooner serve the 6,000 plus homes that are outside the cable's reach and consequently without adequate television reception."

"It is hoped that we may be granted FCC permission to start construction sometime this mid-summer. If this were possible, Delta County would have complete network television service by next fall."

Abraham said that his firm, which erects local translators, to intercept, increase and re-broadcast TV signals for pickup by home antenna, has been granted permission by the FCC to construct television translator stations to serve the Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee area. One of these stations will be transmitting on federally assigned Channel 13 with high power of 100 watts and an effective radiated power of 1,000 watts.

If enough subscribers are signed, construction will start by June 23 and be completed by July 30, said Abraham.

Channel 13 would bring ABC TV network programs and Channel 9 would make NBC available. Marquette currently is served with CBS programs from its local WLUC-TV on Channel 6. The project would add a translator to the existing cable TV service there.

FCC has also granted permission for three translators at Eagle River, Wis., and Abraham's firm plans immediate construction there, he said. It has also been engaged to engineer a 5-channel ultra high frequency system to serve Baraga and L'Anse with a 450 foot tower at Herman to broadcast with five 100 watt transmitters. The Gwinn translator has been in operation since April, adding ABC and NBC to the WLUC-TV programs.

Even In Prison

There was a time when most of the inmates at the Marquette Prison were older men who were transferred there from the prison in Jackson. Now more of the prisoners are younger men transferred from the Ionia Reformatory.

There are several reasons for this. Courts have been handing out shorter sentences and making wider use of paroles, resulting in a decline in the prison population and creating space at the Marquette Prison for younger offenders.

Another reason is that penal authorities believe the younger inmates have a better chance to adjust in a smaller institution like the Marquette Prison, where they can receive more individual attention. But a big reason is simply that, as Marquette Prison Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe expressed it, "It's the younger person who is being sentenced today."

And, ironically, proportionately more younger people are being sentenced today because of the improved economic conditions in the state and nation. Older persons generally have job skills, and there are plenty of employment opportunities for them today (even if they have a prison record), so they are not as inclined to drift into crime as they might be when "times are tough."

But youths who haven't developed job skills are a drug on the labor market, and these are the people composing the largest part of the new inmates today.

Almost without exception, those who are sent to the Marquette Prison are school dropouts. Warden Buchkoe estimates that only about one out of 100 of these younger prisoners have high school diplomas. The rest not only are under-educated, but underprivileged and underdisciplined as well.

The vast majority of them are without work skills and even without work habits—or play habits. "They lack play experience," the warden said. "Many from the Detroit area have never skated on ice or participated in other conventional forms of recreation. I think if these younger people knew how to work and play properly they wouldn't be in prison."

Once they are committed to prison, an effort is made to teach them basic work habits at first. Then they are encouraged to develop work skills and to receive academic training. And, hopefully, they will acquire some of the social values of play or recreation in the process. Other efforts also are made at "rehabilitation" while the inmate is serving time.

But it is a costly process and far from the ideal approach to the problem. It now costs taxpayers $8.60 per day for each inmate housed in the Marquette Prison. And much of the damage already has been done before the youngster is sentenced to prison.

The ideal approach is to try to devise means of keeping him out of prison in the first place; to attack the problem at its source by removing the causes of crime. The principal causes are poverty, ignorance and lack of education.

The job opportunities that now exist for older members of our population must be made available to the younger members through education and training if we are to combat crime effectively.

Police In Labor Unions

Escanaba Police have asked the City of Escanaba to accept the Teamsters Union as their bargaining agent in determining wages and working conditions. The Milwaukee Journal comments on the conflict of interest issue involved in the request in the following editorial:

The law requiring Wisconsin governments to live with public employe unionism unveils its most alarming implication when it comes now to the police. Applied to law enforcement bodies, it permits a clear conflict of interest that no good public policy, or even the cause of public safety, can comfortably countenance.

Circuit Judge Roller has felt he had to rule that Greenfield, in the specific case, may not forbid its police officers to affiliate with the AFL-CIO. If the present state of the law does indeed compel this view, we are in trouble that only a change in the law can get us out of.

Nobody would say that the members of a particular police force may not have their own protective association, as they do in Milwaukee, for instance. It is their becoming brothers of the labor movement that sets up a divided loyalty, between single-minded devotion to law and allegiance to unionism. Police unionism can only destroy faith in an impartial police attitude toward fellow unionists.

The specter of police strikes cannot be out of mind despite the law's ban on public employe strikes. In Milwaukee specifically, the leadership of the union that wants to organize police and deputy sheriff locals has shown only contempt for the strike ban, has plainly said it will continue to counsel use of the strike weapon when it suits union purposes.

At the very least, therefore, the Roller decision hammers home the urgency of making the strike ban absolutely violation proof. And even if that could be done, which is not easy, the law ought also to restrict the privilege of public employes to affiliate with the labor movement so as to exclude police specifically. Otherwise the conflict of interest will be present anyway, strikes or no strikes.

Hurdle For Medicare

Nurse Shortage Severe

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

American nurses—already badly outnumbered by their duties and their patients—haven't seen anything yet. Wait until Medicare takes effect July 1 and elderly patients begin competing fully for medical services.

That seems to be the prevalent feeling of U.S. hospital administrators preparing for the impact of Medicare.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press showed that many of the better-staffed hospitals are worried about the drain of nurses and technicians to smaller hospitals as the Medicare patient load spreads.

Competition For Skills
Peter Geilich, assistant administrator of Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Tex., said he expected that the main impact of Medicare would be increased competition for trained people with smaller hospitals in rural areas.

The smaller hospitals, he said, will have to come up to higher standards to qualify for the Medicare program—and those hospitals will have to hire qualified registered nurses and technicians.

But, unlike the big teaching hospitals, the smaller hospitals won't be training new people. They'll have to raid the bigger hospitals for their personnel.

At a recent meeting, Boone Powell of Dallas, president of the American College of Hospital Administrators, said there already is a serious shortage of 20,000 registered nurses—and Medicare will make that shortage critical.

Not Enough Care
At the Los Angeles County General Hospital—part of the county hospital system that carries much of California's medical load—the assistant administrator, John O'Connor, said county hospitals now provide an average of three hours of nursing care per patient per day. The standard, he said, should be four or five hours.

"With funds available from the government," he said, "we can increase the nursing staff which is now extremely low among general hospitals."

Dr. Tenero D. Caruso, a Los Angeles surgeon, put it this way: "I've heard, I've read and I've listened and I've looked. Right at the present time in Los Angeles there are large hospitals that have wards that are closed because of the inability to get adequate, competent nursing help."

Beds Lack Staff
"I know of three hospitals whose census of occupied beds is down not because beds aren't available, but because there isn't capable help available."

ROAD

Now that another person has been killed on Memory Lane, people are going to start hollering, "cut the trees—they are a hazard," and they will use many other alibies. Myself I believe the trees on Memory Lane make a beautiful entrance way to Escanaba and in the many years I have been here, and have driven that road thousands of times, I have never yet had one of those trees move out into the road in front of me.

In my estimation, those trees could very well represent people or children on the side of the road and far enough out of the line of travel to be safe. And children move. Therefore, I do not believe that the trees are at fault in any way. But I do submit the request that the Highway Department do the following checking on this section of road and publicly publishing its findings.

Now in driving this road through the Memory Lane area in several different cars, I noticed that when you get into this area that the car acts peculiarly. In this I mean pull to one side or another, that is not normal, or the car may act erratic due to the road's surface. I cannot, for the life of me, put my finger on the exact cause of the trouble but I do feel very sure that many accidents in this area are due to an unseen peculiar element on the road itself.

The Highway Department is supposed to have some highly trained engineers that would be able to check this condition and accurately report on it. I have noticed that this peculiarity does not show up so much on slower speeds although it is minutely evident.

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

President Johnson's critics never were able to fathom why he dispatched U. S. forces to the Dominican Republic in April, 1965. Now a little known fact comes to light that may help to explain the intervention.

In the Dominican island hinterland there is a town called Pedernales, same name as the small river running near the President's ranch in Texas.

It all ought to be clear, even to his staunchest adversaries. He heard that Pedernales was under siege, concluded the old homestead was being attacked and sent the soldiers off to save it.

Ralph Nader has set the style for the 1966 version of the Muckrakers. The idea is to have an expose-type book published in time to coincide with a congressional investigation. Nader's "Unsafe at Any Speed," of course, dovetailed perfectly with the Senate hearings on safety practices in the auto industry.

Booth Mooney, former aide to Lyndon Johnson, has written "The Hidden Assassins," an account of the health hazards in today's food. Observers think Congress will soon turn to this subject.

Carl Bakal's "The Right to Bear Arms" comes out just as the Senate Judiciary Committee takes up the administration's firearms bill. Bakal's book argues for tighter gun control laws.

In reference to the late Rachel Carson's last book, Bakal's work in gun industry circles

A report to President Johnson on the status of Medicare preparations agreed that there was a significant shortage of health personnel—and that the Medicare program would have an impact in those areas where shortages already exist.

The answers to such shortages, the report said, require long-term solutions. But gradually legislation and federal money is encouraging an increase in nurse training facilities.

The nurse supply will increase by 10 per cent in 1966—as graduates reflect the increased nurse training enrollment from 50,000 to 54,000.

There are another 60,000 persons a year in training for sub-professional health occupations.

Finding The Way

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Two observations emphasize the common problem of being lonesome. The first is from a brilliant semanticist who works in Africa. In most of the languages of that continent, says Dr. Wesley Sadler, there is no word for "lonesome," since everyone is a member of a family or a tribe. You may be alone but you're not lonesome!

The other observation is from Thoreau's Walden. "I have never felt lonesome, or at least oppressed by a sense of solitude, but once, and that was a few weeks after I came to the woods, when for an hour, I doubted if the near neighborhood of man was not essential to a man was not to a serene and healthy life. To be alone was something unpleasant."

All thinking, feeling persons have known loneliness.

There is the loneliness of the President, musing over decisions to be made.

There is the loneliness of the parachutist dangling in silence between sky and earth.

There is the loneliness of the man who has wrecked his career rashly.

There is the loneliness as generations try, and fail, to understand each other.

There is the loneliness of the young and the loneliness of the aged.

Beyond these is the loneliness of those who have come to a new understanding of the universe in which we live, the solitude that comes to those who see this planet as a lonesome dust mote in the vastness of infinity.

Loneliness comes from achievement and it also comes from alienation. To come into a new area of responsibility diminishes some types of companionship.

The opposite is the loneliness that comes when a person has deliberately or selfishly destroyed friendships, grooved life into such self-interest that it is impossible to understand one's neighbor or even to hear him.

When a person understands his loneliness, confronts it and recognizes that it cannot be evaded, he could be at the threshold of a new chapter of wonder for his life. Loneliness can be an evil thing. It can be the result of placing all of our trust in our ourselves, in our own possessions and in our own schedules. It can be the loneliness of the person who refuses to listen to anyone.

It is one thing to stand alone in one's convictions; it is another thing to isolate life from the possibility of even hearing what our neighbor says. This can happen to a county as well as to an individual. Can a nation go it alone.

Loneliness can be a blessed kind of torture. Jesus went away alone in order to find a new companionship. He was terribly alone and splendidly companioned.

During World War II, a German pastor was imprisoned because of the stand he had taken against his government. He knew the terrible loneliness of "thirsting for words of kindness, for neighborliness, tossing in expectation." Foundation researchers show that the state Democratic party spent $14.98 in his behalf. Maybe somebody was snapping up paperback copies of that unfriendly little book, "A Texan Looks at Lyndon."

A recent briefing for newsmen getting ready for this spring's White House Conference on Civil Rights, someone asked whether the Black Muslims and the Ku Klux Klan has been invited to the parley.

The answer was "no," most emphatically.

The next question, offered absolutely deadpan: "How about Republicans?"

Parent's Obligation To 'Draw The Line'

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 14 and driving me out of my mind because of her obsession with what she considers up-to-the-minute style.

I have gone along with Lois up to now because I haven't wanted her to feel different from the rest of the girls in her crowd. But things have gotten out of hand. The girl is getting herself up to look like a comic. I feel I must draw the line somewhere—but WHERE?

Lois has hemmed up all her dresses so that they hit her about four inches above the knees. She wants everything tight around the hips and the louder the colors and patterns the better.

She goes around both day and night wearing sunglasses as large as coffee cups. Her hair (which she irons on a board) hangs in her eyes and looks ghastly. I am happy that she is allergic to eye make-up and cannot wear it. For several months last winter she looked like a raccoon.

My husband and I have had some serious talks about what to do but we just don't know where to draw the line. Will you please print this letter not only for us but for other parents who must be equally baffled? — ADRIFT WITHOUT ANSWERS

Dear Adrift: Styles DO change—and they will continue to change because it's good for morale and good for business. But some of the stuff I've seen lately—not only on teen-agers, but on their mothers—may be considered fashionable, but it strikes me as positively indecent.

The op look and the pop look and the ironed hair and the kooky glasses—O. K. if a girl keeps herself clean. But those skin-tight, high-high skirts are vulgar. There's nothing left for a girl to do to attract attention except to set her hair on fire.

Parents not only have the right but they have an obligation to say, "This far—and NO further!" There comes a point at which respectability must take precedence over "trend"—and, so help me, over "what everybody else in the crowd is doing." When you feel that your teen-ager is getting too far out, step in and lower the boom.

Dear Ann Landers: I was 18 when I fell madly in love with a married man. I waited for him three years, until he could get a divorce.

We have been married 14 months and have a son who is six weeks old. The baby is sickly and cries a lot. My husband says his other children never cried at night and he doesn't see why this one has to. According to him it is my fault.

He criticizes my housekeeping and says his first wife was wonderful that way and he isn't accustomed to anything else. He knew I hated housework before I married him but he said it didn't make any difference.

Last night he made a mean remark about my figure and it really hurt. I explained that it takes a woman about three months to get her shape back after a baby. He said his ex-wife got her shape back in three weeks on four different occasions.

I'm very unhappy and afraid he is, too. What happened to the most exciting love affair in history?—NO NAME

Dear No: It was legalized.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents—if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Retarded School Takeover Delay Threatens Here

The devoted parents of retarded children who worked for so many years to create the John F. Kennedy School For Retarded Children have hoped always that the burden would be taken up by the public school system.

And now that this has been done by authority for special education voted in the June 13 election in the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District there is a threat of further delay.

The threat does not assuredly mean that the school will not be taken over by the public schools this fall, and even if takeover is delayed it would only be for lack of a teaching staff, and for only as long as the lack lasted.

But the Escanaba Area School District has a serious problem of finding qualified teachers for the school, Supt. Luther Barrett told the Board of Education at its meeting this week.

Under the sponsorship of the Delta County Chapter, Michigan Association for Retarded Children, the school could set its own standards for teachers. But the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District levies taxes to support its operations and it must use teachers who are certified, and, in the case of the Kennedy School, it must use teachers who have had special training in the teaching of retarded children.

Paper Mill Ends Liquor Discharge

OCONTO FALLS, Wis. — A million dollar evaporator plant at the Scott Paper Co. mill here has been put into operation, ending the flow of spent sulphite liquor into the Oconto River.

After the evaporator is broken in, company officials said, the new evaporating plant will concentrate all the mill's collectible liquor into a sirupy liquid which can either be sold for other uses or burned in the plant's furnaces.

D. J. Dughie, general manager of Wisconsin mills of Scott, said, "Completion of this evaporator gives the Oconto Falls mill a pollution abatement installation at least as comprehensive as any in the American sulphite pulp industry. Our outlay since 1955 for cleaning up the Oconto River now exceeds $2 million.

He said the cost of the evaporator and other pollution control machinery could not be "economically justified" by the Oconto Falls operation alone, but that Scott considers the plant an experiment that may be useful at other mills.

Job Corps Center Staffers Named

Willis E. Siltala has been appointed director of business affairs for the Northern Michigan University's Women's Job Corps Center.

A graduate of Negaunee High School, Siltala is a graduate of Ferris Institute in Big Rapids and is a certified public accountant.

Before joining NMU, he worked for the Gannon Lumber Corp. as office manager and also has been employed by John D. Morrison & Co., and the Manistiquet Pulp & Paper Co., as an accountant.

Reuben Swanson has been appointed as an administrative assistant to Dr. Bert Jones, Women's Job Corps Center director. A native of Skandia, Swanson is a graduate of Marquette High School and Northern Michigan University where he received a bachelor of science degree majoring in business last June.

Mrs. Mary Hekhuis has been named community relations specialist with the Job Corps Center. A native of Newberry and a graduate of Newberry High School, she received her bachelor's degree from Michigan State University. The mother of four children, Mrs. Hekhuis is the wife of Clair Hekhuis, NMU staff member.

Gogebic Lakes Will Be Treated

Bobcat, Eel and Marcell lakes, all in Gogebic County, will be partially treated with chemicals next week by the Michigan Department of Conservation. Chemicals will reduce the perch and sunfish population in Eel Lake to step up the growth rate of those fish left in the lake. Treatment of Marcell Lake will increase the growth rate of smallmouth bass. This treatment began in August of 1965.

A spot (chemical) treatment in Bobcat Lake will allow biologists to determine the species present and aid in future management. The water after treatment will not be harmful to bathers and the fish killed are edible.

must use teachers who have had special training in the teaching of retarded children. There is a shortage of all teachers and there is an acute shortage of such specially trained teachers. Barrett said that he had been able to contact only two qualified teachers and neither was available.

At Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, which trains such teachers, he was told "You're not offering much as a starting salary. Our graduates in teaching for the retarded are averaging $5,800-$6,000 as starting salary." Escanaba's base pay for beginning regular teachers is $4,800 and it will only be higher under the new schedule being negotiated with the teachers at present by the Board of Education, but it won't be $5,800.

The teachers committee and board were to have met on Friday on new pay schedules, but the Michigan Legislature has not completed action on the state school aid formula and will not until next week and this is a basic factor in salary determination because it fixes the board's income. The meeting will be held after an announcement of the aid formula for 1966-67.

A teacher hasn't been found yet for one of the junior high school classes for retarded students, and the Kennedy School needs present more serious problems because it takes children who have been judged uneducable for training.

"The situation is not impossible," said Barrett "but it doesn't look good."

Presumably, if the school district could not obtain certified teachers for the Kennedy School—it needs two for its present enrollment—for the beginning of the fall term it would continue to be operated by the Delta County Chapter of the Retarded Association until such time as the school district could take over with qualified teachers. At present the school is financed by Delta United Services, the federated charity organization.

In Service

Shelters to protect aircraft on the ground in Vietnam are being constructed in record time with the assistance of Staff Sergeant Wallace J. Finstrom, son of Mrs. Gladys Finstrom of 426 S. 14th St., Escanaba.

Sergeant Finstrom is a member of one of the special U.S. Air Force construction teams on temporary duty in Southeast Asia. The sergeant and his teammates are building large revetments which form walled parking spaces for aircraft. They are designed to protect the aircraft from enemy mortar attacks.

The 25-man teams are composed of engineering specialists on alert status in USAF civil engineering squadrons throughout the United States. The teams keep ready to deploy whenever and wherever needed.

Permanently assigned to Kincheloe AFB, Mich., Sergeant Finstrom attended F. W. Good High School, Naima, Mich.

Staff Sergeant Gerald E. LaFreniere, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. LaFreniere of 1614 1st Ave. N., Escanaba, has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Yokota AB, Japan.

Sergeant LaFreniere received the medal for outstanding achievement as an aircraft maintenance technician in Southeast Asia. He is a member of the Pacific Air Forces which provides air offensive and defensive units in Southeast Asia, the far East, and the Pacific.

He attended Escanaba Senior High School. His wife is the former Maria H. Kroeschel of Germany.

Airman William N. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Hall of Bark River, Rte. 2, has been assigned to March AFB, Calif., after completing Air Force basic training. The airman, a 1965 graduate of Bark River-Harris High School, will be trained on the job as a vehicle maintenance specialist with the Strategic Air Command.

Army Private John L. Pinar, whose wife, Lois, lives at 729 S. 12th St., Escanaba, completed a Transportation Supply and Parts Specialist course at the Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va., June 13. During the six-week course, Pinar received instruction in the receipt, identification and storage of Transportation Corps parts, supplies and equipment and the maintenance of stock records. The 19-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick J. Pinar Jr., Wells, entered the Army in February of this year and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He graduated from Escanaba Area High School in 1965.

Golfers Are Like Cattle

Links Carts Use Trails

Michigan State University Extension Service specialists told golf course greenskeepers how to make healthy turf at the second annual Turf Grass Conference at Highland Golf Club Friday.

There were 26 greenskeepers and specialists at the conference, which brought the latest scientific findings in turf research to the aid of the greenskeepers.

The MSU research includes constant trial of grasses for resistance to diseases and climatic problems. Local search is for a disease-resistant grass that does well in our northern climate and stands up under wear. "One of the things we need," said James Fisher of the MSU Crops Science Department, "is a grass that will stand compaction, because we have got to live with motor carts on golf courses. The golf cart operators are like cattle, they tend to follow a path when one is developed on a golf course, rather than run all over the place, which would be better for the turf."

Dr. Paul Kieke, MSU Soil Science Department, said "This year we're going to put some grass plots in the Upper Peninsula because we feel that climatic and soil conditions are enough different from our plots at East Lansing and Traverse City to make it worth while to study them.

"Golf courses are important to our recreational industry and we want those in the U.P. to offer good playing conditions. Several U.P. courses are going from 9 to 18 holes — including those at Ishpeming, Marquette and Iron Mountain, and Highland's here in Escanaba — and we want the extensions to be of high quality."

James Timmerman of the MSU Crop Science Department, in prescribing for weed controls, said "A weed is any plant out of place. A blade of grass on a putting green is a weed unless it's bent grass. This multiplies the problem of weed control and requires a lot of selective spraying to get rid of what we don't want and to keep what we want."

Don Thurlow of MSU's Marquette office emphasized the importance of taking soil samples and having them tested so the right analysis fertilizer can be prescribed, and in the proper amounts.

Don Reid, new MSU crops man in the U.P., discussed proper heights to cut grass, depending on variety and location. He also discussed that, the build-up of a dead grass mat on putting greens he urged taking off cuttings, as that creates too much sponge in the greens, and makes the crown of the grass too far from the soil.

The group toured the course to see the suggestions exemplified. Joseph L. Heirman, Delta County MSU Extension director, presided at the program and Hazen Henesh, president of Highland, was host.

Pneumonia Sends Judy Lynn Back Into Hospital

FLINT, AP. — Little Judy Lynn Funch, who underwent heart surgery last March, is back in a hospital again.

The 5-year-old girl has pneumonia for the 19th time in her young life.

Judy's mother, Mrs. Clarence Funch, said the child was in good condition.

Judy has received more than 2,000 letters and gift packages from well-wishers, and her mother said she still gets from five to 15 letters a day.

During the five-hour heart operation, doctors at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor removed an obstruction from a pulmonary vein which brings oxygenated blood from the lung to the heart.

Without the surgery, surgeons said, Judy would have had only a few years to live.

She had been home for about six weeks before the latest stage of pneumonia struck.

DeGabriele Given CCI Promotion

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. announced appointment of R. M. DeGabriele as chief project engineer. DeGabriele is a graduate of Michigan Tech and had done advanced study with the University of Michigan Extension Service. He came with the company in December, 1945 as mining engineer.

DeGabriele is a native of Negaunee and a graduate of the Negaunee High School.

Phone Monitor Ordered Ended

AUGUSTA, Maine, AP. — Gov. John Reed has asked the Public Utilities Commission to order telephone companies in Maine not to monitor any telephone calls.

Moments after the governor's announcement Friday night, PUC Chairman Frederick N. Allen issued a statement saying he had sent this telegram to all 34 telephone companies under PUC jurisdiction: "Any monitoring of phone calls is hereby ordered to cease, pending complete investigation by this commission."

The order was prompted by disclosure that New England Telephone Co. has monitored thousands of calls as part of its practice of checking the technique and performance of operators and quality of service.

Farm Bureau Meeting Held In Groos

The Delta 426 Farm Bureau group held their monthly meeting June 14 at the Gus McFadden home in Groos. Chairman Carl VanDresie presided at the meeting.

He told of the Citizenship Seminar to be held in Escanaba in July. Adults and High School students may attend.

Clayton Ford reported on legislative affairs. The discussion topic for the evening was, "Job Opportunities for Farm Youth." The agriculture industry employs 40% of the nation's total work force and with proper training farm youth can and should employ these positions.

Guests at the meeting were County Agricultural agent, Joe Heirman and Mrs. Heirman. A social hour followed and lunch was served by Mrs. McFadden. The next meeting will be July 12.

Program Bus Schedule Set

The bus schedule for students enrolled in the program for "Speech Therapy" will begin as the busses leave the school bus garage at 7:30 each morning. Adjustments in schedule will be made along the route as required.

Pick-up time in Ford River will be about 8: Pine Ridge 8:20; Groos 7:45; Chemical 8: Bay View 8:15; Wells 8:30; Soo Hill and Newhall area at "Sodergren Store" at 8; and Soo Hill School at 8:25; Cornell School 8; and Danforth Road pick-up at Felix Johnson residence corner at 8:25.

The return trip to these school sites will be at 11:45 each day.

The Developmental Reading Program is designed to provide remedial instruction for more than 825 students experiencing reading problems.

Briefly Told

Escanaba River Post Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring a rummage and bake sale at the Flat Rock Town Hall from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Tuesday, June 21.

Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce leaves Sunday for Michigan State University, East Lansing, where he will attend a week's session of the Advanced Management Institute presented by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and MSU. It will be his fifth year. Hugh Grow of Freeport, Ill., former Escanaba C-C manager is a student and teaching fellow in the institute.

Escanaba police have issued traffic violation summonses to Gerald D. Hanson, Lake Shore Drive, no operator's license; Donald J. Nault, 1920 2nd Ave. S., leaving the scene of a property damage accident; Lawrence M. Vetter, Appleton, no valid operator's license; Carl J. Stenberg, Bark River Rte. 2, Richard A. Roberts, Franklin Park, Ill., Gerald H. Sundberg, Escanaba Rte. 1, and Freddie Wouff, Coleman, Wis., all for speeding.

John V. Trombly, St. Clair, Mich., suffered a minor injury to his leg in the collision of two cars in the alley in the 100 block between N. 13th and N. 12th Sts. at 8:05 p.m. Friday, it is reported by Escanaba police. The other car was driven by George N. Goymerac, 1407 N. 18th St., who was ticketed for failing to exercise due care.

THIS BIG TROUT was caught by James "Jim" Smith of Cornell while fishing for bass in the Bark River near the M35 bridge south of Escanaba on Friday morning. The trout weighed five and one-quarter pounds. (Daily Press Photo)

Believe Castro Told 'Shut Up'

WASHINGTON, AP. — Some Washington analysts believe the Soviet Union may have ordered Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to stop talking and take a back seat in his country's affairs.

Whether he has been stripped of power, the analysts say, remains to be seen.

The State Department took public notice Thursday of reports that Castro's regime faces "growing popular dissatisfaction." Press officer Robert McCloskey also noted that "it is a fact that Castro uncharacteristically has not been in the foreground of events since May 1."

The Cuban Prime Minister was reported Friday to have concluded an inspection trip to one of the provinces.

Analysts here are basing the theory that Moscow may have gagged Castro on persistent reports that the Soviet Union has found some of his recent activities very troublesome.

Lovell And Aldrin Are Assigned To Gemini 12 Flight

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., have been assigned to fly Gemini 12, the nation's final two-man Gemini space mission.

The flight, featuring a around-the-world space walk by Aldrin, 36-year-old West Point graduate, is scheduled late this year, probably in mid-November.

Gemini 12 will clear the way for full space agency efforts on Project Apollo, the U.S. program to land men on the moon by the end of the decade. The first three-man Apollo flight, or days in earth orbit, could also come in November.

Lovell, 38, will be command pilot on the three-day journey. He made his first orbital flight last December aboard Gemini 7.

Ensigners Hold First Summer Cookout

Ensigner 4-H Club held its first outdoor cooking meal Tuesday at the homes of leaders, Mrs. Herbert Lundin and Mrs. Thomas Safford. Twenty-three younger members prepared chili con carne at the Lundin home while the club's 23 junior and senior high members did foil cooking.

All members met at the Lundin home for the business meeting with Tom Safford, Jr., president, presiding. Linda Norlander presented the club calendar prepared by the junior leaders. The calendar was accepted by the membership. Calendar highlights include a beach party, ice cream social, club trips, and a game night.

A bake sale will be held at Majestic's I.G.A. Store July 1-2. The sale will feature an old fashioned lemonade stand and cookies. Sale proceeds will benefit the club's summer trip. Klint Safford was named bake sale chairman, committee members are Connie Lundin, Jean Pajnich, adult advisor, Mrs. Mary LaCrosse.

Beach party plans will be made by committee chairman, Jane Ann LaCrosse and members, Jeff Norlander, Mark Nelson, Gregg Norlander, Tom Safford, Linda Norlander, adult advisors, Mrs. Barbara Norlander and Matt Majestic.

Donald LaCrosse was appointed captain of the bottle cap collection. Gail Sundberg and Jim Lundberg are the club's new members. Songs were led by songleaders Ruth and Regina Olson.

Walker Is Demo Senate Candidate

Earl Walker of Strong's is a Democratic primary candidate for the office of State Senator of the 37th District.

He has served on the Chippewa County Board of Supervisors for 15 years, and has held a number of township offices also. Walker's background includes election and service on the Board of Education, and as a member and director of the Mackinac-Chippewa Board of Commerce.

Theater Company Being Organized At Indianhead

The registration date for a university credit course in play production to be offered this summer at Wakefield has been changed to Monday, June 27. On that date Michigan State University's U.P. Continuing Education Director Jim Gooch of Marquette, will be at the Indianhead Mountain Lodge from 10:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. to register participants.

Students may enroll in Play Production (MSU Speech 341) or in Special Problems, (Speech 499).

The credit course is being offered in conjunction with a repertoire theater program at Indianhead. Several upperclass students from MSU's East Lansing campus plan to register for the summer offering which will include daytime lectures and an opportunity to participate in the evening theater productions.

A limited number of additional persons may still register for credit, or on a non-credit basis. For information contact Vance Paul at Indianhead Mountain Lodge. Paul will be instructor.

Tips Help To Plan Showers For The Bride

NEW YORK (UPI) — With contemporary brides-to-be working up until the very last minute, pre-nuptial showers come at almost any hour.

There's the late morning shower with brunch served; the luncheon shower or afternoon tea; in the evening, it's either a coffee-and-dessert or buffet-supper shower.

Among the most popular types of showers are these: canned goods, paper, kitchen linen and lingerie.

Individuality should be the key to whatever the shower hostess plans. If it's a paper shower, for example, try invitations on blank checks. Announce a garden shower on plant tags.

Centerpieces for the shower include paper figures of a bride and bridegroom. Other paper centerpieces feature the traditional parasol, a three-tiered wedding cake touched with green leaves; a domed arbor entwined with pink roses. The paper centerpieces set the theme for other table appointments.

The best hostess sees to it that there's a container in which to carry home the gifts. A laundry basket is good. Cover it with ribbons.

After the party's over, knot all the ribbons together from the packages and let each guest grab a knot — bride-to-be excluded.

Tradition holds that the one who gets the last knot will be the next bride.

For attending her daughter's wedding and reception the mother of the bride is wearing a three piece ensemble of eyelet lace over light blue acetate taffeta and Mrs. Sovey is attired in a light pink jersey turtleneck dress with matching jacket and accessories. Both mothers were presented with white cymbidium orchid corsages.

The newlyweds will leave later this evening for a honeymoon trip to Copper Harbor and upon their return will reside at 6025 Carmen Ave., Milwaukee.

The bride is a graduate of Gladstone High School and Mr. Sovey graduated from Holy Name High School.

Food Care Is Vital In Warm Weather

With the coming of summer months, cook-outs, picnics and prepared lunches eaten in cars are a way of life with most citizens. But the high temperatures that are so enjoyable also pose a threat to food unless the rule is adopted which says: Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold.

At this time of the year, there is always an increase of food poisoning cases reported to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Many of these stem from meats being exposed to summer temperatures without proper refrigeration after the food is prepared.

Foods containing cream and eggs are particularly susceptible to food poisoning organisms when improperly handled. Heading the list are mayonnaise, cream fillings, potato salad, cream sauces, puddings and salad dressings.

Manufacturers usually handle such products properly as do most retailers, but often consumers are negligent because they are unaware of the hazard involved, says J.L. Littlefield, chief of the Food Inspection Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Microbiologists at the department's laboratory frequently detect bacterial contaminants in food samples submitted by Mr. Littlefield's men during warm weather.

To avoid danger of food poisoning, they advise keeping foods that are to be eaten hot well heated during the time between preparation and eating. Similar precautions apply with cold foods. Chilling and good refrigeration are suggested. Keeping food at room temperatures is dangerous in either case. Maintain hot foods at 140 degrees F. or higher and cold foods at 45 degrees F. or colder.

Capacity Crowds View Centennial Displays

The presentation of complimentary copies of the Presbyterian Centennial books to the Carnegie Library and the Delta County Historical Society brought to a close the summer phase of the celebration at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The book, which was printed locally, features a sampler theme, beautifully illustrated on the cover, which was designed by Mrs. Herbert Nicholson.

Capacity crowds visited the Church over the weekend to view displays. The international flavor of the antique exhibit emphasized the wide range of nationalities predominant in early Escanaba; handmade copper tea kettles from the Scandinavian countries, pottery from Germany, a fruit dish from France, Irish glassware, a quilt from Scotland and a Bible from Wales.

In a more contemporary vein, the art exhibit featured the works of over twenty members of the church. The subjects ranged from a religious interpretation by Aileen Ethier to a California cemetery scene by Marilyn Trotter. Water colors by Pat Ivens of bygone landmarks started much reminiscing. Powerful nature themes by William Taylor of Ford River balanced the exhibit.

Attempts are being made to schedule a repeat showing of the slide program prepared for the Centennial Banquet by Dr. and Mrs. Norman Lindquist. Over two hundred guests at the affair applauded the historical presentation. Toastmaster Fred Fisher presided at the affair arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Olson, the Lindquists' and Mrs. Lawrence Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kromrei have returned to Ecorse, Mich., after spending 10 days at their Porky Hill Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Miketnac of Chicago are visiting with relatives in Powers and in Hermansville. Their son, Lt. Bruce Miketnac, of Fort Bragg, N. C., was a visitor here this week.

Robert J. Menard and John Malone attended the recent deer survey meeting in Iron Mountain.

Arthur Schultz, member of the Menominee County Road Commission, attended a road builders' convention held in Land O' Lakes, Wis., recently.

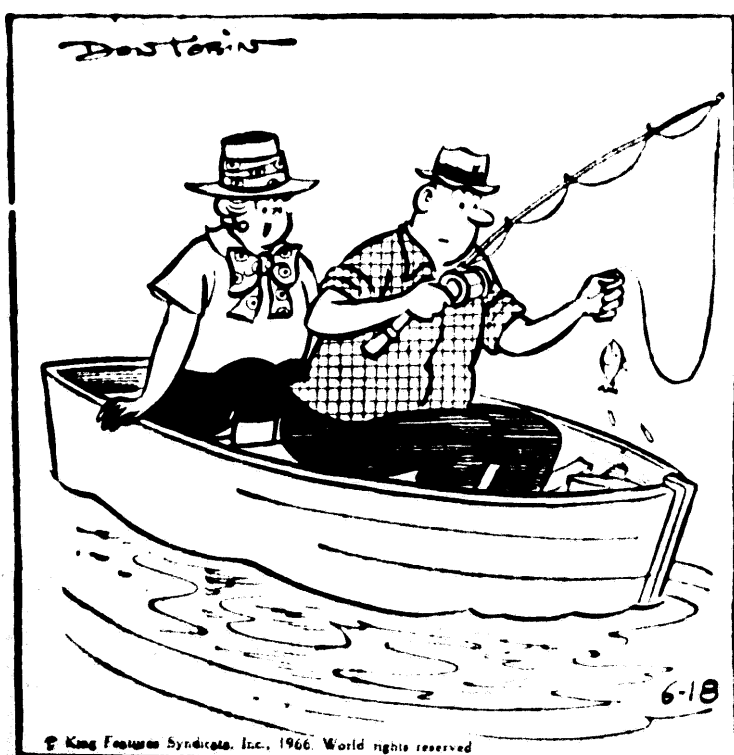

MORE NEWSPAPERS

ATHENS (AP)—Residents of Athens and its suburbs including Piraeus read more newspapers and magazines in 1964 than ever before. They read 248 million newspapers, against 219 million in 1963. More afternoon papers were sold than morning papers. Sale of weeklies and political reviews totaled 147 million. Magazine sales amounted to 35.5 million. Athens and its suburban area has 1.8 million population.

Yanks Topple Tigers, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Yankee Mel Stottlemyre held the "right hand" as the Detroit Tigers' house of cards toppled in a 5-2 defeat Friday night.

Stottlemyre, the first right-hander to tame the Tigers' power in June, pitched a five-hitter. Except for a two-run homer by Al Kaline in the eighth, he had matters under control.

The newest Tiger, Earl Wilson, was bounced out in a four-run fifth inning as New York sent nine men to the plate against him and relief pitcher Johnny Podres. Wilson was making his first start for Detroit after being acquired in a trade with Boston for Don Demeter.

That was all Stottlemyre needed for his second decision over Detroit this year.

But the game belonged to the outfielders as no less than five diving, leaping catches were turned in by the flycatchers. Jim Northrup contributed two and Willie Horton one for the Tigers, while Roy White and Joe Pepitone were the bandits for the Yankees.

Three of them stopped possible homers, while the fifth nipped a Detroit threat before it had a chance to start.

Wilson set down the first nine men to face him before giving up a run in the fourth.

A single by Bobby Richardson, a walk by Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone's ground rule double put one across in the fourth.

White and Jake Gibbs started the fifth with singles. After Stottlemyre forced White on a sacrifice attempt, Tresh singled, scoring White, and Richardson doubled home two more runs. Roger Maris drove in the final Yankee tally after Podres relieved Wilson.

Detroit scored with two out in the eighth on Dick Maculiffe's single and Al Kaline's 10th home run.

Palmer Charges Into Tie For Lead In U.S. Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 66th U.S. Open Golf Tournament developed today into a match of the brute strength of a resurging Arnold Palmer and the finesse of Billy Casper.

Deadlocked at 137 going into the third round, they led an assault on the tight Olympic Club course on which golfers are scoring far lower than expected. "These two boys over here are playing like gangbusters,"

Leaders
Arnold Palmer . . . 71-66-137
Billy Casper . . . 69-68-137

declared Phil Rodgers who had carried an even par 140 to deadlock for second place with unknown Rives McBee. The latter, a rookie pro, surprised everyone with a record-tying 64 on his second round of the $150,000 show.

Galleries and television viewers today saw two contrasting styles in Palmer and Casper, each of whom has won the Open once. Arnie, the charger, utilizes tremendous power. Billy depends more on position and a deft putting touch.

Palmer fired a four-under-par 66 Friday causing some embarrassment to host pro Kyle Burton who before play started Thursday had declared, "I'll eat my hat if he can charge this course."

Even Arnie, with one of his greatest rounds, didn't card the lowest score. The surprising McBee from Midland, Tex., a pro only since last Aug. 1, conquered the Olympic with a 64 to equal the individual 18-hole record for this 71-year-old tournament.

Casper carded a 68 to go with his opening 69 on a course where only five rounds lower than par 70 were shot during the full 72 holes of the 1955 Open.

Jack Nicklaus, burning over a United States Golf Association admonition to speed up his game, remained in strong contention with his second 71 for 142.

While ex-champions Palmer and Casper were at the fore, there were casualties among former winners. Jack Fleck, who beat Ben Hogan in the 1955 playoff, carded a 74-153 and failed to make the cut. Neither did Ed Furgol, with 155, or Cary Middlecoff, who picked up at the 18th for over par.

Gene Littler, the 1961 champion, slipped from his second place 68 on opening day to an 83 and 151, the cutoff point. Al Mengert, first round leader at 67, slipped to 77. Don Massengale went from 68 to 79. Defending champion Gary Player just stayed in with a 72-150, the same total carded by 1964 winner Ken Venturi, who had a 77.

The 53-year-old Hogan went to a 73 and 145, while two-time winner Julius Boros posted 69-143.

John Miller, a 19-year-old San Franciscan, continued to lead the amateurs with a 142, in position to embarrass his elders.

Le Mans Race Marred By Feud

LE MANS, France (AP) — The Le Mans 24-hour automobile race started today following a series of last-minute feuds.

Ford, challenging the dominance of Ferrari, was back in the line-up after threatening to withdraw its entire list of entries over the disqualification of one of its drivers.

And Ferrari went into the race without its No. 1 driver, John Surtees, who bolted the team when a third man was named to the combination for his car.

Surtees was angry because he believed the addition of a third driver was an insinuation by Ferrari that he could not complete the grueling 24-hours.

Surtees resumed racing this spring after a serious accident in Canada last fall.

Squabbles Mark Track And Field Meet; Two Records Are Bettered

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The team title in the squabble-marked 45th annual NCAA Track and Field meet was up for grabs today after a costly ruling which deprived favored UCLA of apparent victory in the 120 high hurdles.

As a result, darkhorse Brigham Young, already ahead with 22 points was the team to watch in the 13-final winnow at Indian University.

Two NCAA records were bettered and one tied, while four individual champions were dethroned in Friday's six-final session.

In one of the three unusual penalties, UCLA's Ron Copeland was disqualified as 120-high-hurdle winner when three judges charged he trailed a leg below the plane of the hurdle.

First place was awarded to Arizona's Dale Frederick with a 13.7 clocking compared with Copeland's 13.6. The rare infraction meant that Copeland dipped his trailing leg around the corner of several hurdles which is illegal.

UCLA Coach Jim Bush bitterly protested to the meet Games Committee, contending he had never seen such a call, which cost the Bruins 10 points for the canceled first place.

Until that ruling as darkness fell on the field, Bush was highly optimistic over UCLA's chances to dethrone co-champions Southern California and Oregon.

Two other Friday performances were marred by disqualification.

In the 440 hurdle semifinals, heat winner Vance Peterson Occidental was disqualified for dragging his leg over the side of hurdles and also bumping another runner.

In the mile relay semifinals, Southern Illinois lost a final berth when its first runner, Robin Coventry, was charged with running out of his lane for more than three strides.

Southern Coach Lou Hartzog also filed a protest with the games committee.

The 440 hurdles and mile relay were on today's closing program in which as many as five individual champions may be unseated.

On the brighter side Friday were these performances:

World shotput champion Randy Matson of Texas A&M uncorked a 67-1/2 toss, bettering his one-day-old NCAA mark of 65-4/4 set in Thursday's prelims. Southern California's Gary Carlsen qualified for the discus finals with a flip of 190-1/2, an inch better than the 12-year-old meet mark set by Southern California's Sam Innes in 1953.

Open Season Here Sunday

Eskey Cubs Play Twin Bill With Manistique Club

The Eskey Cubs will open their 1966 baseball campaign with a doubleheader against the Manistique Chiefs at the Al Ness Field Sunday starting at 1 p.m.

The exhibition twin bill will match two teams that played in the defunct Waubung League last season. The league folded this spring because of lack of teams.

Manager Allen Erickson was optimistic after a week's practice. "We've got a good infield and five or six good lefthanded hitters. We should have a good, solid club by the time the Legion baseball tournaments come around in August," he stated.

Erickson indicated that Jim Boyle and John Way will get the starting nods for pitching duties Sunday. He'll use Ed Gauthier at first base, Rick Kuchenberg at second, Dan Mylander at short, Larry Anderson at third and Marty Oslund behind the plate. Outfielders will be selected from among Lee Robitaille, Dick Christensen, Don Braundt, Jerry Wiles, Dave Young, Chris Young, Dale Cochran, Tom Boyle and Glen Meunier. Warren Nye will be available for pitching relief if needed.

Orioles Boast One-Two Punch

BOSTON (AP) — Hank Bauer figures the current edition of the Baltimore Orioles is the best offensive club in his three years as manager, and it's no secret that the wrecking tandem of Frank and Brooks Robinson is the big reason.

The R&R slugging twins zeroed in on Fenway Park's chummy left field and cracked homers accounting for all Baltimore runs Friday night as the American League leaders defeated the Red Sox 5-3.

"They certainly have given us the big punch in the No. 3 and 4 spots," Bauer said after Frank hit his 17th homer with one runner on, and Brooks nailed down the decision with a three-run blast.

"They're really tough, especially in this ball park," Boston Manager Billy Herman said in praising the Robinsons. "A pitcher can put the ball right where he wants, and those guys will knock it out."

Frank, who leads the league in batting at .344, tied Boston's George Scott for the home run leadership by hitting a tremendous shot into the screen in left center after Russ Snyder singled in the third.

Brooks then followed singles by Luis Aparicio and Snyder with his 11th homer, a line drive into the screen in the fifth that hiked his runs batted in production to 53, tops in the league.

The homers were the third in three games in Fenway Park for the Robinsons this year.

AMONG LUMBER camps in the Seney-Grand Marais area were those of D. N. McLeod of Newberry. Mrs. J. J. Herbert, his daughter, curator of the Schoolcraft Historical Museum, has provided historical material to aid research for it and recalls childhood days when she visited her father's camps.

History To Come Alive

Seney Plans For Museum

Seney, a settlement named for a DSS&A director, George M. Seney of New York, is planning a history museum, located either in its unused school building or another location.

The event is one which will attract considerable attention, because Seney got a sinful reputation in the lumberjack era.

There are those who say it wasn't as bad as books say it was and others just laugh about the accounts of the settlement.

As pine diminished in Lower Michigan lumber interests moved north, one of them the Alger Smith Co. which in 1882 bought a sawmill at Grand Marais and supplied logs from Seney, Germfask and Curtis on a railroad it called the Manistique railway but which local residents called "The Myrtle Navy," a popular smoking tobacco.

Seney became the pine capital and focal point of the railroad. By 1890 it had 3,000 population. It also had a shingle mill operated by John King, on the east branch of the Fox River.

The Alger Smith Co. included in its director list Russell A. Alger, who became governor of Michigan 1885-87 and later was secretary of war under President McKinley. A one-time employee of the company's railroad, Leon Czolgosz, an anarchist, who had worked on the section line near Beaver, assassinated President McKinley Sept. 6, 1901. He was executed Oct. 29, 1901.

Also a part of the early Seney history was the Detroit, Mackinac and Marquette railroad, built in 1881 from St. Ignace to Marquette. It crossed the northern part of Schoolcraft County and connected with Reedsboro and Seney through a logging road. A stage line ran west from it to Brampton and Days River, which were along the Chicago North Western line.

Constant Ruggles and Frank Vassau ran a stage line from Manistique to Seney, with a halfway stop at Duck Creek.

Under a Western Land Security Co. development, the town grew, a bank was established and several residents built. Bert Furst, former Conservation officer lives in one of the homes. Farmers coming in to the area at the time found cold winters and inexperience working against success of their ventures. A number came from Chicago. The area also had a Jewish settlement, north of Seney, but members left in 1914. About 1915, Henry Bullock, who manufactured the Bullock tractor started a ranch, growing grains.

The Manistique and Driggs rivers create marsh near Seney, and twice, in 1912 and 1922 efforts were made to drain them. Carl Sweeney of Newberry dredged between 1912-16.

The museum will probably be located in the school if voters in a school reorganization favor sending students to Newberry.

Mrs. Mary Landers, daughter of Phil Grondin, who operated the hotel in Seney many years, is due back in early May. She has been helping with the project. Also a key leader in Francis Morrison, township supervisor.

Box turtles, gorging on fresh fruit in strawberry season, often become so fat that they cannot close their shells.

Germfask

Mr. and Mrs. James McLearn, Mr. and Mrs. Alden McLearn and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cousineau and children of Manistique visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. McLearn's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ackley.

Mrs. Maxine Edwards returned from Battle Creek, Mich., where she spent a few days.

Mrs. Blanche Orlich returned from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where she was a patient for a few days.

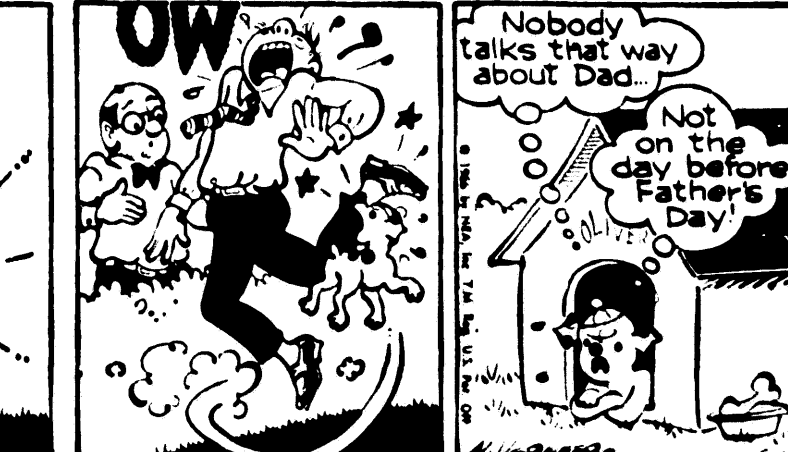

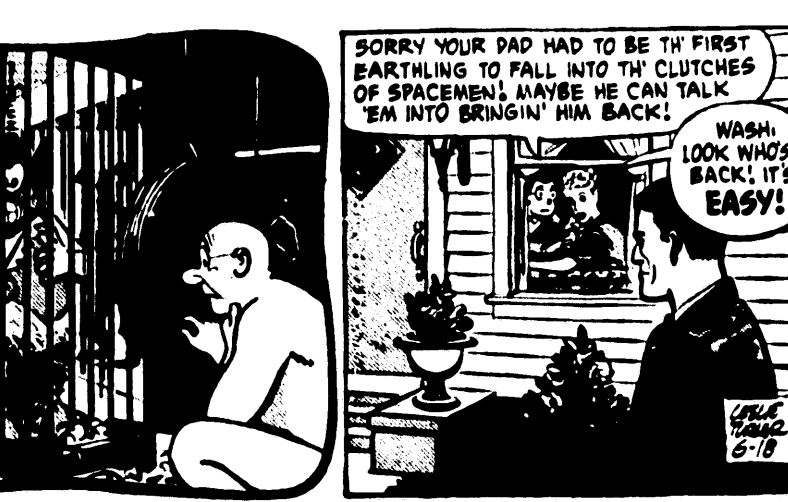

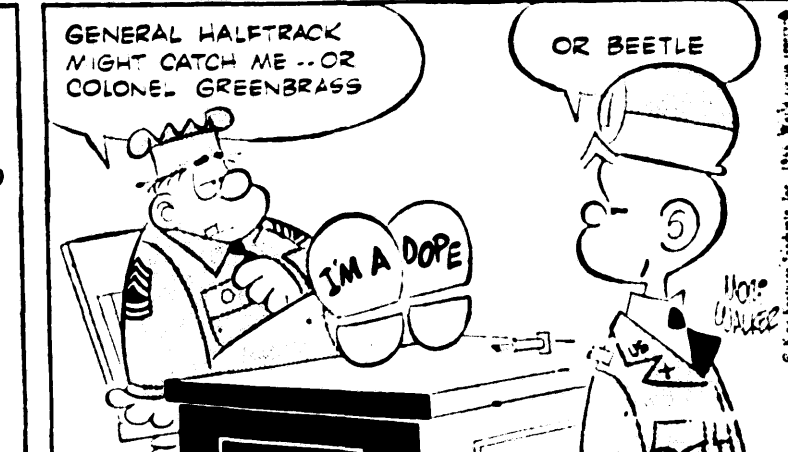

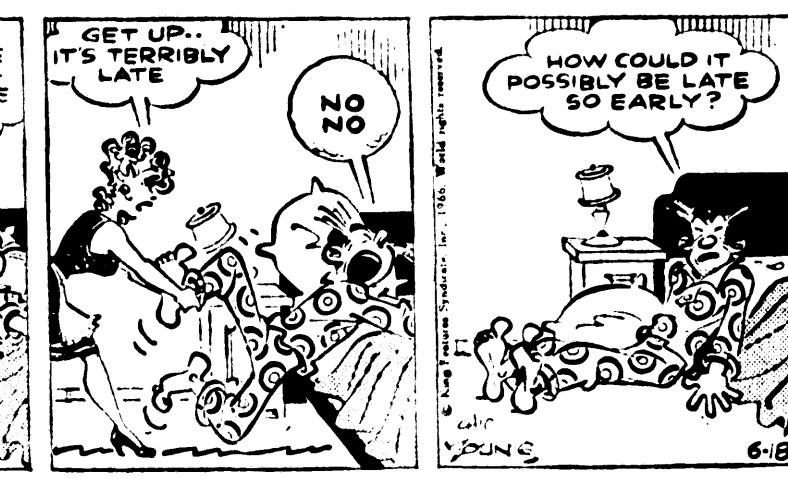

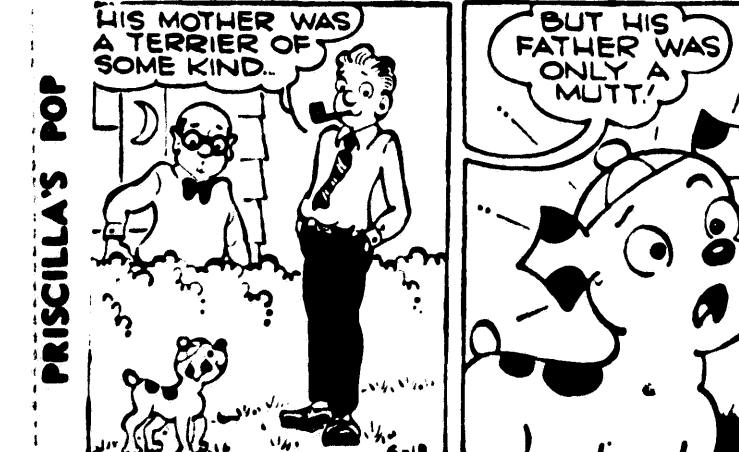

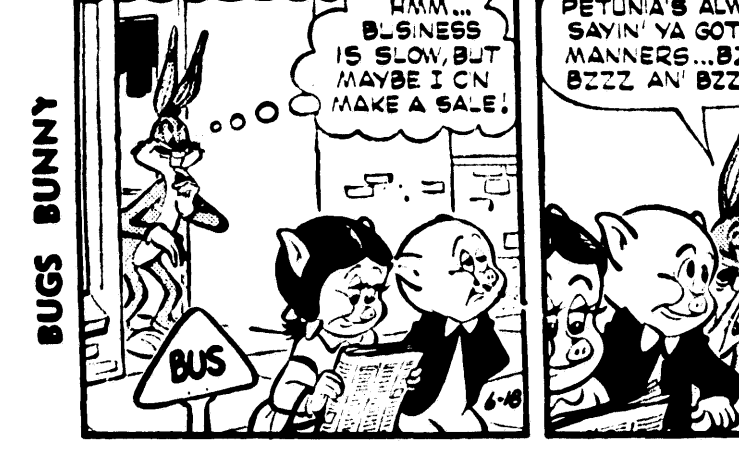

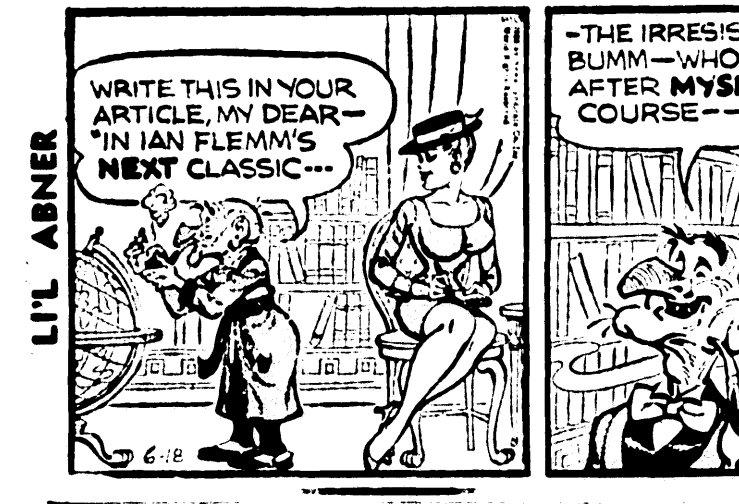

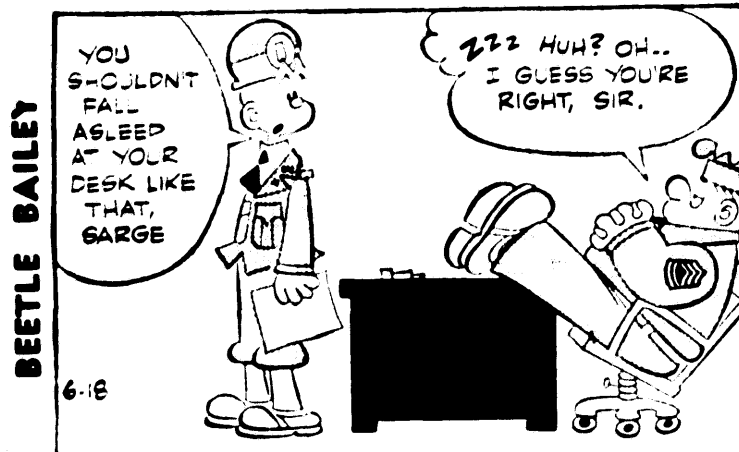

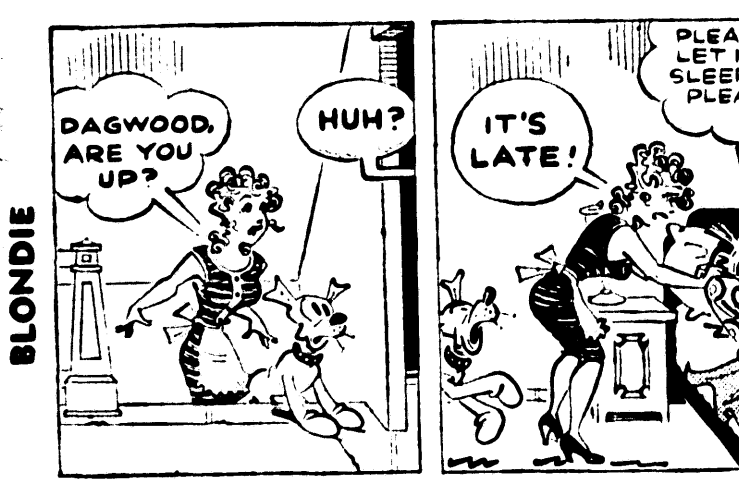

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown of Germfask and his brother, Robert and wife of McMillan, motored to Flint to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Latch attended the Promenaders Square Dance Club Saturday, June 11 in the high school commons. The guest caller was Don Fell of Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Larry Seymour and children of Milwaukee are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Pat Smith and family. Later she will return with her daughter, Wendy, for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brain will visit their granddaughter, Mrs. Frank Chenard and family at Rhineland, Wis., for a few days.

Mrs. Pauline McAlpine is a patient at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital at Manistique where she had surgery. Miss Alma Huntley of St. Johns is visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Vassau ran a stage line from

I'm missing from this picture. I belong right between the subjects. For the old gentleman on the right is my father . . . and the young gentleman on the left is my son. But someone had to snap the picture.

It was taken on a Sunday afternoon. Earlier the three of us had walked to church. And Grandpa — (you know how you come to call your own father "grandpa" after you have a son) — well, Grandpa put his hand on Jimmy's shoulder.

"You know, Jimmy," he said, "I've been walking to church down this street ever since it was a cowpath. And I used to think real proud-like, when I walked your father to church, that the Lord never gave me a bigger job to do than raise my son a Christian. But I feel just as proud walkin' by you — like all my important work isn't done yet."

Understand why I wanted this picture? And why I call it "Unfinished Business?"
